Speak of the Devil By Shawna Romkey

What happens when falling in love and falling from grace collide?

After dying in a car accident with her two best friends, Lily miraculously awakens to grief and guilt. She escapes to her dad's to come to terms with the event and meets some people at her new school who seem all too eager to help her heal. Sliding deeper into sorrow and trying to fight her feelings for two of them, she discovers who...what they really are and learns they are falling too.

Can she find the strength to move on from the past, reconcile her feelings for Luc, figure out how to stop a divine war with fallen angels, and still pass the eleventh grade?

Editorial Review

Review

"I was impressed with Romkey's willingness to tackle an issue that most writers of speculative fiction avoid - namely how religion and belief are both a struggle and a blessing for all of us. That her characters were involved with this, flaws and all, was an important choice for Romkey to have made. "

- Terry Brooks, New York Times bestselling author of more than twenty-five novels including the Genesis of Shannara novels

"The writing is impeccable, and the characters seem so real that you truly hesitate to put it down. I actually read it twice and enjoyed it just as much the second time. Speak of the Devil is truly a TBR book that should be moved to the top of your pile. The author has really created a wonderful new series that should not be missed, whatever age you are." - Bitten by Books, 5 stars

"This book also differs from many in the genre because of how dynamic the characters are and how they grow throughout. It's often unclear who's good or bad, and it shows that characters can have more than one side." - Paper Droids, 4 stars

"Ms. Romkey took me on a rollercoaster with this story and I was on the edge of my seat from beginning to end. It is a beautiful tale and I will be anxiously awaiting a sequel to see where the characters are taken and who will ultimately win the war between good and evil". - Platinum Book Reviews, 5 stars

"This book was very moving, and especially as I got closer and closer to the end, I kept feeling more moved by the story, and the beauty of the story and its characters. I really loved the characters--good and bad." - Paranormal Reads, 5 stars

About the Author

Shawna grew up around farms in the heart of Missouri but went to the University of Kansas, was raised in the US but now lives on the ocean in Nova Scotia with her husband, two sons, two rescue dogs and one overgrown puppy from hell. She's a non-conformist who follows her heart. She has her BA in creative writing from the University of Kansas where one of her plays was chosen by her creative writing professor to be produced locally, and two of her short stories were published in a university creative arts handbook. She earned her MA in English from Central Missouri State University where she wrote a novel as her thesis. She's taught English at the university and secondary levels for close to twenty years and can't quite fathom how all of her students have grown up, yet she's managed to stay the same. She's a huge geek and fan of Xena, Buffy and all kick ass women, and loves to write stories that have strong female characters.
